Faces of Change

GREEN ZONE, YOUTH AREA

It's easy to get bogged down in the debate and forget the human face of climate change. Climate change is not just an abstract debate over statistics – it's about people and the impacts they're facing but it's also about people taking action. Yet, the stories are often untold .

UN Environment has teamed up with renowned photo-journalists to put a face on some of the good initiatives underway. For the first time, this series of images will reveal these extraordinary 'Faces of Change' to the rest of the world.

EXHIBITIONS

16 NOV

Shaping Forests - Exhibition of Photo Contest Winners

GLOBAL LANDSCAPES FORUM

UN Environment will be exhibiting the winners of the #ShapingForests photography competition, where the public was asked to submit images of a beautiful shape in a forest and tell the story of the significance of forests to their community.

MASKBOOK WORKSHOP

12 NOVEMBER

WHAT: We are inviting you to a unique, creative Maskbook workshop where you will have a chance to put a face on solutions to combat climate change and air pollution (amongst other environmental concerns), by using the power of art and sustainable lifestyles. Maskbook is an artistic initiative which uses the original pollution mask, changing it from a symbol of fear to a symbol of hope. Each person is invited to create his or her own mask (handmade and digital).

WHEN: 12 November from 11.00am to 1.00pm

WHERE: Café Clock, Derb Chtouka, Marrakech, Morocco

Let's start a community that wants to inspire lifestyle change!
