THEME

This World Environment Day we are asking people to re-connect to the places they love. This might be a place they used to go, a special location they visit now or a place they long to see.

The brand mark has a white colored variation and should be used only on the primary color palette (please refer to the color palette for more details). The backgrounds must never interfere with the visibility of the mark.

LOGO LOCKUPS: CLEARSPACE & MINIMUM SIZE

The proportions, spacing and relative positioning of the symbol and logotype must remain consistent.

'X' is determined by the X-height of 'World Environment Day' Text. The letter '2X' on the diagram indicates the minimum clear space required around the logo image.

No graphic or text elements should appear within the clear space.

The theme lockup must not be reduced in size to less than 50 mm (height) as the text legibility will deteriorate.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Imagery should have at least one person in view and immersed in nature. Consider selecting images that are high quality and showcase the visually beautiful qualities nature has to offer. Also consider selecting a variety of ethnicities to accurately reflect the global nature of the campaign. Images should also capture a sense of connection with nature – a serene, private moment or a shared relaxation with family or peers.

Images should also capture a sense of connection with nature – a serene, private moment or a shared relaxation with family or peers.

GRAPHIC PATTERNS

Graphic patterns inspired by nature – tree rings, elevation lines, waves, wind – are used to add a playful layer to the theme's look and feel. Patterns can be placed over photos but should not cover more than 30% of the original image. These patterns can also act as a background pattern to break up long, white background sections on printed designs or the website.

ICONOGRAPHY

Iconography is an optional component of the theme and should be used sparingly. If expanding on the system, use minimal, bold lines in a single stroke weight. Icons should also represent natural elements found worldwide to emphasize World Environment Day's global perspective.
