

Consultative Meetings for Africa Region in Preparation of the Special Session of the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment (AMCEN)
and the 2019 UN Environment Assembly
15th-16th September 2018, Nairobi, Kenya
Conference Room 2
UN Environment, Gigiri

Background

The fourth session of the UN Environment Assembly will take place from 11-15 March 2019, in Nairobi, Kenya, under the overarching theme “Innovative solutions for environmental challenges and sustainable consumption and production”. The Assembly is traditionally preceded by Global Major Groups and Stakeholders Forum, a meeting of mainly accredited civil society organizations to prepare for the Assembly and discuss common positions and engage in a dialogue with the Executive Director, Member States representatives and UN Environment colleagues on the themes of the Assembly from a global civil society perspective.

The theme of the fourth session of the UN Environment Assembly relates to Agenda 2030, particularly to Goal 12 on “ensuring sustainable consumption and production patterns” and provides the Assembly with an opportunity to align this Goal in the delivery of other Goals. Regional Ministerial Fora as well as Regional Multi Stakeholder Consultations will take place in the run-up to the UN Environment Assembly and feed into the preparatory process by providing civil society inputs to the suggested theme.

Three proposed focus areas have been identified:

- Sustainable food systems including food security and eradication of hunger
- Life-cycle approach to resource and waste management
- Business development for sustainable development in a time of rapid technological change

The seventh special session of the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment (AMCEN) is scheduled to take place at the headquarters of the United Nations Environment Programme in Nairobi, Kenya from 17 to 20 September 2018. The session will consider key issues to be discussed at the fourth United Nations Environment Assembly (UNEA-4) and Africa's common approach for engagement in the Assembly. It will focus on how environmental challenges can be addressed through innovative solutions and interventions and by promoting sustainable consumption and production. The session will therefore be held under the following theme: "Turning Environmental Policies into Action through Innovative Solutions".

The special session will provide an opportunity for the continent to prepare for the 14th session of the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity (UNCBD-COP14) scheduled for 17 to 29 November in Sharm el Sheikh, Egypt, as well as the 24th session of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC-COP24) to be held in Katowice, Poland later in the year.

AMCEN at its 14th session held in 2012 adopted a decision to establish an African Environment Partnership Platform (AEPP) to coordinate, mobilize resources, foster knowledge and align support for the implementation of the Environment Action Plan of the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD). The Platform was officially launched during the 22nd Conference of the Parties to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC COP22) in Marrakech, Morocco in 2016. The goal of the partnership platform spearheaded by the NEPAD Agency is to promote sustainable environmental management in Africa through enhanced partnership, coordination and harmonization of activities as well as pooling of resources at various levels. The focus during this meeting will be to review environmental management in Africa under the theme "50 years of Environmental Governance and Sustainability in Africa".

The multi-stakeholder preparations and engagement in the Assembly is based on:

- (1) The need to reinforce the visibility and impact of the UN Environment Assembly in the context of the follow-up of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development at the global and regional levels (including the High Level Political Forum and the Regional Forums on Sustainable Development convened by the UN Regional Commissions);
- (2) The need to harmonize the regional environmental agenda, through the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment (AMCEN), with the global agenda through the UN Environment Assembly (UNEA);

- (3) The mandate set out in the Rio + 20 Conference in 2012, where governments highlighted that the engagement of civil society in the UN Environment Assembly and its decision-making process is an important factor that will ensure relevance and success of the new global assembly, and;
- (4) The need to give a space to stakeholders, in particular from civil society, to build early consensus on strategic and structural issues in view of the fourth session of the Assembly, so that regional inputs can be fed into the preparatory process of the Assembly.

1. Participants and target audience

The regional consultations will bring together Major Groups and Stakeholders (MGS) accredited to UN Environment, non-accredited regional Major Groups and Stakeholders partners, member states, International Organizations, UN agencies and the private Sector.

2. Purpose and Objectives of the Meeting

The objective of the two-day consultations is for the African Major Groups and Stakeholders to prepare their inputs for the seventh special session of the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment (AMCEN) as well as the fourth session of the UN Environment Assembly. The outcome of the meeting will be a regional statement including key messages by civil society from Africa. This regional statement will be incorporated into the overall information document comprised of all regional statements by civil society and presented as an official preparatory document to the UN Environment Assembly.

3. Expected Outcomes:

- Key messages by Civil Society for the seventh special session of the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment (AMCEN).
- Regional statement (including key messages) from the African Civil Society which will form part of the compilation of the official Information Document.
